

Golf Course To Open Mid-Sept.

By DORAN CUSHING
Sports Writer

Workers have finished sprigging the greens and fairways for the new 18-hole, par-72 championship golf course at USF. The course is scheduled to open in mid-September, according to Dr. Richard Bowers, director of physical education and chairman of the golf course committee.

The course is located on 135 acres along 46th Street, north of Fletcher Avenue on the USF campus. It will have three sets of tees on each hole: one for championship play with a total yardage of 7,050; one for the average golfer (6,300 yards); and the women's tees (5,945 yards).

The course will be open only to USF students, faculty, staff, and their families and guests.

FACILITIES WILL include a pro shop (on a temporary basis at first), lockers, club storage and rentals, and caddy and electric carts. A vending machine area will be used until snack bar facilities can be financed.

The course was designed by William F. Mitchell, a well-known course architect who has designed courses at Longboat Key Country Club in Longboat Key, and East Bay Country Club in Largo.

West Berner, a 19-year veteran coach and professor from Stetson University in DeLand, will become golf pro and manager of the new course. Berner said of the new USF course, "I feel that when the course is completed it will compare favorably with the best in the state."

DAVE COVERSTON, who served as construction superintendent of the new course, will become greens superintendent.

Present facilities for USF golfers include a part-time self-service driving range and two practice greens.

Applications for quarterly and yearly memberships in the USF golf course are now being accepted by the university cashier, Administration 131. Below is a schedule of fees:

Terrier Mound Ace Signed By USF

Jimmy Diaz, former Hillsborough Terrier pitching ace, signed a baseball scholarship with USF June 20.

Diaz led the Tampa high school to its first state baseball title in 30 years. He compiled a 9-0 regular season mark with the Terriers, and recorded two wins in the state tourney.

Hubert Wright, USF's baseball coach, signed Diaz at his home. Speaking of the 6'1" star, Wright said, "He's not only an outstanding athlete, but is highly qualified academically also. He scored over 400 on the Florida Senior Placement tests."

Diaz played for Jefferson High School in his sophomore and junior years. He was named to the All-State baseball team in his senior year, and previously had been named to the All-City team at Jefferson as an outfielder.

The USF team compiled a 14-8 record last year. Before a two week layoff for finals, the team was riding an 11 game win streak and had a 13-2 record.

Professor Kim Leaves USF For Cal. State

Yung Min Kim, assistant professor of political science, left USF Friday to join California State College at Fullerton, California.

The World Affairs Club gave a farewell party for Kim last week. Kim was one of the advisers to the club.

CTR Events Author Marian

The University Center Special Events Committee will present children's author Marian Murray as the guest speaker in the Meet The Author series, next Wednesday at 2 p.m. in University Center (CTR) 232.

Miss Murray, a recipient of a B.A. from Wellesley College, has completed graduate work in art history in Europe.

She has lectured to various groups, including the FSU Symposium, the Youth Conference in Leesburg, the Miami Public Library and numerous women's and garden clubs, on the subjects of books, museums and writing.

MISS MURRAY, while serving in a public relations capacity and as assistant director for three Ringling Museums, wrote international, national, and local newspaper and magazine material and museum booklets.

During this period she wrote "Sarasota," "The Circus City," "Here Comes the Circus," and "Circus! From Rome to Ringling," the latter being for adults but read by some young people.

Miss Murray's newest book, "Collecting Fossils," to be published in the fall, will be included among books on fundamental subjects sent out by the publishers to junior and senior high school libraries all over the United States.

An account of the second French expedition to Cuba published in Frankfurt, Germany, in the 16th Century is displayed in the University of South Florida Library.

Camp Makes European Debut In Concert Tour

Dr. John B. Camp, assistant professor, Humanities, recently completed a piano concert tour in Europe.

Camp's European debut was the concert for the "May Musical Hispanese" sponsored by the Joaquin Turina Foundation given on May 12 in Seville.

On May 20 Camp made his debut in France for the Cecilia Society of JMF in Possy-sur-Seine.

WHILE IN FRANCE, Camp also recorded the Bartok Sonata and the Liszt Spanish Rhapsody for Radiodiffusion Television Francaise (O.R.T.F.) for France Musique on May 29.

Camp was well received by his European audience. Following his European debut in Seville, the newspaper El Correo de Andalucia wrote, "He possesses a solid command of the instrument and artistic qualities of promise."
"He confronted us with a program of works not often among the habitual repertory, loaded with difficulties for the pianist and the audience as well."

During the tour, Camp played Haydn's "Fantasy in C Major," Beethoven's "Sonata, Opus 101," Bartok's "Sonata" (1920) Brahms' "Rhapsody" Op. 79, Number 1, Brahms' "Intermezzo, Op. 117, No. 1," and Liszt's "Spanish Rhapsody."

CAMP HAS been invited back to tour during the 1968-69 season when he will give a concert in Madrid, will play the Bartok 3rd Concerto with the Sevilla Philharmonic, will give a concert in Paris at the St. Germain Conservatory, and will give an 18 to 20 concert tour throughout France for the JMF.

Camp said he would be there at least two months during the 1968-69 season and will do more recording and give more concerts in Spain in addition to the above program.

Camp, who is a pupil of Edward Kilenyi and of Ernest von Dohnanyi, received first prize in the National Recording Festival in 1955, and the Warren D. Allen Citation from the Florida State School of Music in 1965.

Barker Not Director But Acting Director

Mary Lou Barker was not appointed director of the Library as reported in last week's Oracle, but was appointed acting director of the Library.

Ohio Prof To Join Co-Op Staff

Keith Lupton has been named coordinator and assistant director of the US Cooperative Education Program. Lupton will join the Co-op Program staff, July 1.

During the past three years, Lupton has been on the faculty of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, where he is currently associate director of the Extramural Department (Cooperative Education). He previously was with The New Jersey Zinc Company and 13 years in exploration geology, public relations, personnel administration and labor relations.

LUPTON holds the B.S., LL.B. (Bachelor of Law), and M.A. degrees. He specializes in geology and personnel and industrial relations. He has taught labor law in Ohio State's educational program for labor leaders.

Lupton has written many articles on cooperative education, personnel administration and labor relations and is active in the Cooperative Education Association.

He and his wife, Marylyn, plan to move to Tampa with their three children before July 1.

USF Library Will Exhibit Italian Art

An exhibition of works by Italian painters Alberto Burri and Lucio Fontana will be on display July 7 to 30 in the Library Gallery.

Both Burri and Fontana explore new artistic concepts and materials to establish communication directly through the physical elements of their works.

Burri's works feature bur-lap and rags as the primary materials in large, textural compositions. He also uses sheet iron, plastics and wood.

Fontana, founder of the Spatialist Movement, punctures and slashes the canvas and uses gouged-out passages, stones and metallic surface to incorporate space in his works.

The 39 examples of the artists' works were organized for exhibition by the Museum of Modern Art in New York.
