

Brahman Golf Course Ready For Action

Florida's championship golf course is completed and nine holes will open Oct. 2, after a short dedication program. The nine holes will not be consecutive, according to course professional Wes Berner, because of problems caused by flood water. He said that one of the following sets will open: set one — par 3 holes — 5 and 16, par 4 holes — 4, 10, 11, 13 and 18, par

5 holes — 6 and 17; set two — par 3 holes — 5 and 16, par 4 holes — 1, 2, 4, 10 and 18, par 5 holes — 6 and 17. Water hazards in the color map are the blue areas. Sand traps are designated by yellow, putting areas by dark green, and tee areas by medium green. Fairways are the light green areas and pale green markings indicate the rough. Par for the 18-hole course is 72.

USF's 18-hole championship golf course officially opens Oct. 2 with Pres. John S. Berner calling the first four-tee shot, after a short dedication ceremony. The 18-hole event is open to students, faculty, and the general public.

The $3-million course covers 63 acres north of Fletcher Avenue along 46th Street. It is financed through USF's general activity funds. Only 10 holes will open Oct. 2, the remaining nine holes will be opened in a few weeks. The course was originally scheduled to open today, but heavy August rain and flooding from the nearby Hillsborough River kept the maintenance crew from putting finishing touches on several tees and greens.

ONLY STUDENTS, faculty, staff, and their families, and guests will be permitted to use the course. Facilities include a temporary pro shop (donated by the builders of Fontaine Hall), lockers, club storage and rental area, electric and pull carts, and a vending machine. The pro shop will sell all the necessary golf accessories, including balls, clubs, and clothing.

Wes Berner, a 19-year veteran coach and professor from DeLand's Stetson University, will be handling the golf professional and course manager duties. David Coverton, who served as construction superintendent, is in charge of maintenance and repairs. Berner will also conduct the USF intercollegiate golf team, and will give private lessons for $3 per half hour. Money collected from lessons will go into golf course funds. Future plans include a permanent clubhouse with snack bar facilities, a larger storage area, and additional lockers. William F. Mitchell, a well-known architect who has designed the Longboat Key Country Club near Sarasota and the East Bay Country Club in Largo, designed the championship course. The beautifully planned course uses the natural rolling terrain, many water hazards, and hundreds of trees to test the golfer's skill.

TEE AREAS will have three different markers on each hole. From the championship tees (blue), total yardage is 6,962 yards, from the men's tee (white), the distance measures 6,343 yards, and the women's total length from the red tees is 5,884 yards. The championship tees play approximately 35 yards longer than the men's and 70 yards longer than the women's on each hole. Par is 72 for everyone.

USF's golf team will practice on the new course. The squad has traveled to various area courses to practice in past years. Students enrolled in PE golf classes will be allowed to play three rounds free and will be loaned free equipment. Two tournaments are now planned for Quarter I: a student tourney is tentatively scheduled for Homecoming Weekend, October 20-22. An alumni tournament is set for October 21.

NORMAL operational hours of the course will be from 8:30 a.m. to dusk, seven days a week. "There will be a real premium on accuracy," said Berner. "The course is no place to just tee up and hit away. You would have to call it a thinker's golf course."

Faculty Organizes Sports Activities

USF sports clubs are organized by faculty members to satisfy student abilities and interests. Students having a special interest are able to participate in a particular sport activity.

South Florida's water ski club competes with other universities during the year, including inter-collegiate meets at Cypress Gardens. The club's purpose is to improve skills and motivate interest among members. Dr. Melish, club adviser, may be contacted for additional information.

KARATE has become a favorite activity at USF. This sport will no longer be open to just USF men as the women are forming their own club this year. Men's adviser Fredric Zeig and women's adviser Elaine Allen and Mary Francis are eager to take new students into the club.

Several rallies and competitive events are scheduled each year by the sports club. The club is more interested in safety than speed. A small membership fee covers most membership fees and expenses. Peter O'Sullivan and R. J. Weir sponsor the club. Jo Anne Young, women's tennis coach, sponsors the fencing club, which competes in local tournaments, exhibitions, and inter-club events. Dues are 50 cents per year.

Berner Views Course For USF Golf Fans

Berner, golf professional of the new USF golf course, passes how the average golfer might play each hole given in in the 18 holes.

1. Par 4, 381 yards. It's a dogleg left (fairway bends right). The large pine on the right prevents the golfer from taking the short cut to the green. The green is protected by sand traps on both sides.

2. Par 4, 323 yards. Dogleg left. The trees along the left side will cause trouble if a tee shot sliced to the right. The green is elevated and guarded by sand traps.

3. Par 5, 481 yards. One of the tougher holes on the course. The tee shot must be carefully placed between hazards on left and right. The second shot also has to be long and straight to hit a large trap approximately 65 yards from the tee. The small green is elevated and guarded by traps.

4. Par 4, 370 yards. Hole is slightly uphill, dogleg right with trees on both sides. The second shot must be carefully placed on the green, which is surrounded by sand traps.

5. Par 3, 137 yards. A driving hole. It looks easy, three traps protect the green. To the left of the hole is 6th Street.

6. Par 5, 474 yards. Difficult for the golfer with a persistent hook. The dogleg left follows the contour of a lake for 400 yards. Trees line the right side of the narrow fairway. The green is guarded by two traps plus water on the left and on the backside.

7. Par 4, 400 yards. A slight dogleg left. This long par four has an elevated green protected by a huge sand trap directly in front of the green.

8. Par 3, 190 yards. A tough par three with water on the left side and traps guarding a small green.

9. Par 4, 288 yards. Dogleg right with a lake on the left to catch a hooked tee shot. There's also a fairway trap to prevent the golfer from cutting the corner of the dogleg.

TAMPA CLAIMS VELDE

McEvoy Leaves USF

McEvoy Leaves USF

South Florida will be playing this soccer season minus its two leading scorers and its leading playmaker. Coach Dan Holcomb has also lost a top freshman prospect.

Hedge Velde, the Brahman's all-time high scorer, has transferred to Tampa University. The 25-year-old senior collected 22 goals and six assists during his two-year Brahman career.

VELDE was the state's second highest scorer in 1965, and made the All-State Team all forward that year. He also scored four goals against St. Leo in 1965, a USF record.

Former St. Leo prep star Tim McEvoy has also left the campus. The 150-pound sophomore had 14 goals and six assists in his freshman season last year. McEvoy, a 142-pounder from St. Leo, recorded nine assists in 1966, and totaled 50 assists one prep season. He played on prep district and state championship teams with McEvoy, and both were members of the 1966 National Junior Cup Team.

VELDE'S REASONS for leaving were not apparent, but both McEvoy and Meyer had experienced academic difficulties in 1966.

Argos Pool Has Rough Schedule
